SALARY INFORMATION

The City of Atlanta has 8,182 employees in various job classifications. The following pages indicate the allotment of these employees by department, and also by the fund and account from which they are paid.

Further divisions of each department into payroll account shows the number of employees in each such account, as well as the classification title, and the salary range number.

Following the salary information is shown the schedule of salary ranges with the 7-step annual increment plan used by the City. Each new employee's salary commences on the first step unless the salary range number is followed by a figure in parenthesis. Where this is indicated, the employee's beginning salary is on that step of the schedule.

Department of CITY COUNCIL

The City Council is the legislative branch of the City Government, and as such, is vested with power to enact laws for the City. The Council appropriates the funds of the City, adopts the annual budget, sets the tax rate, grants special licenses, authorizes contracts and franchises, and confirms appointments of heads of bureaus and departments. The Council consists of one member from each of the City's twelve districts and six members elected at large. The Councilmembers are elected by a majority vote of the qualified voters of the City and serve for a term of four years. The President of the Council is elected city wide and serves as the Council's presiding officer.

The City Council is organized into nine standing committees for the purpose of study, the conduct of public hearings, as appropriate, and making recommendations to the City Council on action on proposed legislation within their areas of purview. Ordinances adopted by the Council are subject to the Mayor's approval and veto. The Mayor's veto may be overridden by a two-thirds vote of the Council.

The principal duty of the City Clerk is to serve as clerk for the Mayor and the City Council. He writes the minutes of the Council meetings, furnishes copies and certificates where required; records, files and preserves all original papers on which official action has been taken. He has custody of the official seal of the City and holds all City elections.

Bureau of Correctional Services

The Bureau of Correctional Services is responsible for operation of the City's Corrections Center and all detention facilities and services. The Corrections Center is essentially a detention and confinement facility for City ordinance offenders. However, since the facility's inmate population consists largely of chronic alcoholics and is extremely recidivistic, the custodial role is gradually evolving into one of rehabilitation.

Four detention-related functions performed by this Bureau include: (1) jail administrative services, booking, setting and collecting bonds, processing automobile impoundments, and coordinating the daily Municipal Court Docket; (2) jail detention services associated with the custody and care of City prisoners prior to conviction, release, or transfer; (3) transportation services entailing the transfer of City prisoners to various courts and other agencies; and (4) operation of the detention unit of Grady Memorial Hospital.
