Rakaba is a 27-member West African ballet performing folkloric ballet which was founded in 1993 by Sulaiman and Fanta Turay. Rakaba promotes the classical civilization and divine artistic expression of African people through the glorious folklore of our African Ancestors. The driving rhythm of the drums along with the energetic dancer's interpretation helps our audience to appreciate the history and heritage of Mother Africa. Songs, dances and ceremonies are performed in traditional costumes to the authentic instruments of several different and complete drum orchestras. Presentations portray rites of passage which include religion, birth, death, marriage, harvest, thanksgiving and many more. We portray African life from its most glamorous to its most mysterious. The dancers will leave you breathless and the musicians will stir your spirit. Come; let us travel back in time to the ancient and unforgettable classical culture of our ancestors.
