

City of Atlanta's Anti-Human Trafficking Pledge

I pledge to stand against human trafficking in all its forms—sex trafficking, labor trafficking, and every act of exploitation that strips individuals of their freedom and dignity.

Together, we will protect the most vulnerable, empower survivors, and build a future free from exploitation—one where every person can live in safety, dignity, and hope, supported by a community united in purpose.

I pledge to stand with the City of Atlanta and join forces with (Enter Taskforce Name)—a coalition of individuals, organizations, and communities across Atlanta committed to ending human trafficking.

As part of this commitment, I pledge to:

- Educate myself and others about the signs, risks, and realities of human trafficking.
- Stay vigilant and report any suspicious activity that may indicate trafficking.
- Support survivors with compassion, helping them access the resources they need to heal and rebuild.
- Collaborate with local organizations, law enforcement, government agencies, and community members to form a strong front against trafficking.
- Advocate for stronger laws, policies, and protections for victims and survivors.

United, we can make a difference. I pledge to do my part in creating a safer, more just Atlanta for everyone.
